PREAMBLE

The Promotion of Access to Information Act No. 2 of 2000, ("the Act") came into operation on 23 November 2001. Section 51 of this Act requires that we as a private body compile a manual giving information to the public regarding the procedure to be followed in requesting information from us for the purpose of exercising or protecting rights.

PURPOSE OF THE MANUAL

This manual is intended to foster a culture of transparency and accountability within the Banking Industry as a whole, by giving effect to the right to information that is required for the exercise or protection of any right and to ensure that members of the public have effective access to information in our possession which will assist them in the exercise and protection of their rights.

Section 9 of the Act however recognises that such right to access to information cannot be unlimited and should be subject to justifiable limitations, including, but not limited to:

- Limitations aimed at the reasonable protection of privacy;
- Commercial confidentiality; and
- Effective, efficient and good governance;

and in a manner which balances that right with any other rights, including such rights contained in the Bill of Rights in the Constitution.

Inside these pages a member of the public will be able to view the categories of information which we possess. He/she will also be shown the correct procedure to follow should he/she require access to any of this information.

A copy of this manual is also available on our website (www.mercantile.co.za).

Requests for information that are clearly frivolous or vexatious or which involve an unreasonable diversion of resources shall be refused.

PART V REMEDIES AVAILABLE WHEN MBL REFUSES A REQUEST FOR INFORMATION

5.1 INTERNAL REMEDIES

MBL does not have internal appeal procedures. As such, the decision made by the information officer is final and requesters will have to exercise such external remedies at their disposal if the request for information is refused and the requester is not satisfied with the answer supplied by the information officer.

5.2 EXTERNAL REMEDIES

A requester that is dissatisfied with the information officer's refusal to disclose information, may within 30 calendar days of notification of the decision, apply to a Court for relief.

Likewise, a third party dissatisfied with the information officer's decision to grant a request for information, may within 30 calendar days of notification of the decision, apply to a Court for relief. For purposes of the Act, the Courts that have jurisdiction over these applications are the Constitutional Court, the High Court or another court of similar status.

- 6.5 MBL will process the request within 30 calendar days unless the requester has stated special reasons which would satisfy the information officer that circumstances dictate that the above time periods not be complied with.
- 6.6 The requester shall be informed in writing whether access was granted or denied. If, in addition, the requester requires the reasons for the decision in any other manner, he/she must state the manner and the particulars so required.
